

NEW-YORK DAILY TRIBUNE, FRIDAY, JULY 4, 1851.

By Telegraph to the New-York Tribune.

Important from Buenos Ayres.

BALTIMORE, Thursday, July 3.
The ship Blanche arrived here to-day, from Rio, with dates to the 23d May, reports that the British had captured or sunk a vessel which was on her way to Charros. The concession is described as follows: breaking and tearing away the guards of the Aspinwall, bending and wrenching her piston rod, and nearly cutting her in two, while the passengers, one hundred and twenty-five in number, were saved with fright and consternation, expecting surely that the boat would sink or be blown up. Captain Jewett and the Engineers were safe, and expected nothing but an explosion would occur. Fortunately, however, the scammers were saved, and the passengers becoming quieted in their alarm and confusion, it was ascertained that the vessel was able to proceed on the voyage, having suffered about $500 damage.

FROM LIBERIA.

The Boston Traveller gives the following summary of news from Liberia, to the 16th of May:

The Presidential Election, full returns of which had not been received at Monrovia at the time of the issue of the Packet, had resulted in the reelection of a large majority of the same able and popular document, Joseph J. Roberts. Judge Samuel was his opponent. The candidates for Vice-President were A. D. Williams and Stephen A. Benson. A. D. Williams had undoubtedly been elected.

Mr. Thompson's son jumped from the wagon and escaped unharmed, but the other gentlemen were terribly injured, and it is feared fatally injured. The horse was killed on the spot and the wagon was shattered to pieces.

NEW REVELATIONS AMONG THE MORMONS.

The disciples of Joe Smith enjoy a remarkable advantage in the constant accessions to the spirit of their faith, through renewed celestial communications, two new revelations having occurred within the past month. On Friday night, May 30, it appears that the chamber of Orson Hyde, the Editor of the Frontier Guardian, published at Kanesville, Iowa, received a sudden illumination, and a manuscript book was presented to him, which proved to be a translation from that portion of the golden plates which Joe Smith was forbidden to disturb. This book is a warning against false teachers, pseudo-prophets and wolves in sheep's clothing. It tells of counterfeit revelations and prophetic impostures, and is particularly explicit in directing the Saints not to let go of the "iron rod," meaning thereby the true priesthood. Another revelation has been made to Bishop Gladwin of Ohio, containing much of what had been communicated to the Editor of the Guardian, together with several addenda, proclaiming the duty of reverencing the teachings of the Bishop above all other prophets, seers, high-priests and apostles, and announcing his duty to form an alliance with Queen Victoria. Elder Hyde denounces the Bishop for "false revelations" and "unfounded pretensions," and adds some pungent observations upon the conduct of certain new converts, closing with the following exhortation:

To the Saints who are established here, and who wish to do right, free themselves from all such trash that floats on the swelling current of emigration, and lodges on the banks—by trees and in eddies, kick and roll it off again, and let it pass away, lest it produce an unhealthy state of things among you."

COLONEL HARDEE'S EXPEDITION.—The Eastern Texas of the 12th inst., gives us in the following the first account we have had of the movements of the expedition of Col. Hardee, which left San Antonio to chastise the refractory Indians.

Some six weeks since, Messrs. Rollins and Stein, alias Agents, applied to the Executive of the State for a military force to be sent into the Indian country. The Indians, who had gill two Germans (Gage) to bring them last Fall and stole the little Indians away, about the same time. The Indians had agreed to deliver up these offenders, or the event that they could not do so, then to point out to such military force as might be sent to punish them. It is with the view of carrying out the principle of the said article in the Treaty that was made to the Executive.

Col. Hardee immediately made the necessary requisitions for men, arms, and supplies on this side, and for governmental and agricultural products, especially encouraging. The people are being more and more attention to agriculture, and in consequence more and more independent. No year has produced more extensive improvements in the Republic than the present, and the Government has been exceedingly fortunate in setting the wars and disputes among the neighboring tribes, and the result that our commerce has much increased, and is daily increasing.

A letter from President Roberts says:

I am happy to inform you that the blessings of heaven continue to my efforts on this side, and for governmental and agricultural products, especially encouraging. The people are being more and more attention to agriculture, and in consequence more and more independent. No year has produced more extensive improvements in the Republic than the present, and the Government has been exceedingly fortunate in setting the wars and disputes among the neighboring tribes, and the result that our commerce has much increased, and is daily increasing.
